How to fill out Form 811 — Verification of Vehicle

Alaska · written against Form 811 (Rev 3/2024), issued under AS 28.05.041, under which the department may inspect a vehicle, and 2 AAC 92.020, which the form quotes on federal certification labels

verification-of-vehicle/

A physical inspection of the vehicle, written down by somebody the Division authorised to do it - not by you. It turns up in three places a seller can find themselves: a bonded title, a reconstructed vehicle, and any transaction where the paperwork and the metal disagree. What makes it worth reading before you turn up is the warning at the top, which is stricter than almost anything else the Division prints: any section missing, or any alteration, cross-out or erasure, even when initialled, voids the form and a new verification must be completed.

This sheet is not the form. Download the blank Form 811 from the Alaska Division of Motor Vehicles, Department of Administration at <https://dmv.alaska.gov/media/oronfd0z/811.pdf?f=alaska-811.pdf> — always take the current revision from the agency rather than a copy. Print this and keep it beside you while you complete theirs.

Every line, in the order you meet it

1	OTHER	Plate, state, expiry	The identification row, and the only field the form's own warning excuses if it is missing. Watch out: A vehicle coming through the bonded-title route usually has no plate. None is a complete answer here and does not void the form.
2	OTHER	Is the vehicle complete?	Section 1, yes or no, with a no described in the remarks. Watch out: A no here stops the whole transaction: a dismantled vehicle cannot be titled or registered until it has been reconstructed, which is a different form and a second inspection.
3	OTHER	Motive power, weight, wheels, axles, body	The physical description the inspector takes off the vehicle itself. Watch out: The unladen weight recorded here is what the buyer's registration fee is worked from on anything heavy, so it is worth being present while it is estimated.
4	OTHER	Where the VIN was found	Section 3, at least two of the nine locations ticked. Watch out: Clean the door jamb and the dashboard before the appointment. An inspector who cannot find a second location writes not visible, and that answer follows the vehicle.
5	OTHER	How the plate is attached	Section 4: screws, rosette rivets, round rivets, adhesive, welds, bolts or other. Watch out: Factory VIN plates on most vehicles are rosette rivets. Screws where rivets belong is what this question is looking for.
6	OTHER	What kind of VIN it is	Section 5: metal plate, sticker or label, stamped on body, frame or engine, or other. Watch out: Older imports and rebuilt vehicles often carry stamped numbers rather than plates, which is normal - the point is that the inspector records what is actually there.
7	OTHER	The federal certification label	Section 6, its status, and section 7, what it indicates. Watch out: A missing label on a post-1980 vehicle is a real obstacle, and the way out is a letter from the manufacturer confirming it was built for US highway use.
8	OTHER	The odometer, cell by cell	Section 8, recorded exactly as shown, with the display type and the units ticked. Watch out: Five digits or six changes what the number means. A 5-digit odometer showing 94,026 may have rolled over, and that tick is how the record shows it.
9	OTHER	Supporting documents	Section 9: whether the paperwork agrees with the VIN, disagrees, is missing, or carries no VIN. Watch out: No documents is the honest answer on a bonded-title inspection, and it is the answer that makes the rest of the packet make sense.
10	OTHER	The inspector signs	Printed name, username or badge number, agency, location number, the address verified at, signature in ink and date. Watch out: A stamped or typed signature will not be accepted, which is the form's way of saying this sheet only exists as an original on paper.
11	YOU	Your statement of facts	The owner's block at the very foot: signature, printed name and date. Watch out: You are certifying that the vehicle is operational and in satisfactory working condition for all the required equipment - the list of which is printed on the back of this same form.

What gets this one rejected

- A correction of any kind. Alterations, cross-outs and erasures void the form even when initialled - which means an inspector who makes a mistake starts a fresh sheet rather than fixing this one.
- A photocopy. The form has to be an original copy, and a scan emailed to the counter is not what the header asks for.
- A section with no box ticked. All numbered sections 1 to 10 must have at least one box checked in each, and the only field the warning excuses is the license plate information.
- An inspection by somebody who is not authorised. The header restricts it to an authorized Alaska DMV vehicle inspector, physically present with the vehicle - a mechanic's letter is not this form.
- The owner's statement at the foot left blank. It is the one part of the page a seller signs, and without it the sheet is an inspection nobody has attested to.

☐ Amber is what you write ☐ Grey is a block somebody else completes The filled-in example is at the start of this sheet.
