How to fill out MV215 — Application for Salvage Certificate

Without Title

Delaware · written against MV215 (01/19), issued under 21 Del. C. s. 2512(g) and (h), reproduced in full on the form's own last page

sellmycarhub.com
</forms/delaware/mv215-application-for-salvage-certificate/>

The form an insurer or an auction files when the owner never sent the title back. Delaware puts the restriction in the file name and repeats it on the affidavit: this form is only to be used by Insurers or Auctions applying for a Salvage Certificate to certify that a valid Certificate of Title for the vehicle acquired by the applicant is not available. A private owner keeping a written-off car does not file it - they go to a counter with the certificate, the insurer's letter and the plate. It is on this list because it is the only thing a search for a Delaware salvage certificate turns up, and because the two certified letters it requires are letters that land on a seller's doormat.

This sheet is not the form. Download the blank MV215 from the Delaware Division of Motor Vehicles at https://dmv.de.gov/forms/veh_serv_forms/pdfs/Application%20for%20Salvage%20Certificate%20\(Insurance%20Companies%20or%20Auctions%20Only\)-MV215.pdf-MV215.pdf) — always take the current revision from the agency rather than a copy. Print this and keep it beside you while you complete theirs.

Every line, in the order you meet it

1	AGENT	Name and address, page one	The applicant, with street, city, state and zip labelled underneath the box. Watch out: On a total loss this is the insurer that paid the claim, not the person who used to drive the car.
2	AGENT	Odometer reading	The reading, in its own box, with the brand columns beside it marked Brand Entered By DMV. Watch out: A wrecked car still needs a disclosure. The brand columns are not the applicant's to complete - the Division enters those.
3	AGENT	The two odometer reading options	1) the odometer reading is not the actual mileage. 2) mileage not being disclosed - and for that one the vehicle must be over 10 years old and a zero has to be entered as the reading. Watch out: These are not the two boxes printed on the back of a certificate. Option 2 has an age condition attached to it that the certificate's boxes do not.
4	AGENT	Make, year, model, body style, axles	The description row. Watch out: Axles is on this form because Delaware salvages trailers and commercial vehicles on the same page as cars.
5	AGENT	MGVWR, colour and the vehicle identification number	The second description row, with the VIN in the wide box on the right. Watch out: The VIN is what the salvage certificate attaches to, and what the State Police Auto Theft Unit will check against the wreck if it is ever rebuilt.
6	AGENT	Lien, and the title number	A lien box with None printed beside it, and a title number box pre-printed with a U. Watch out: The statute is what makes this box interesting: regardless of the existence of a lien, the Department issues the salvage certificate free and clear of all liens.
7	AGENT	Signature, printed name, official title, company	Four boxes at the foot of page one, all marked Required. Watch out: Two of them ask what your job is and who you work for. A private owner has neither to write.
8	AGENT	Applicant information, page two	The affidavit's own header block: applicant's name - the label says name of insurance company or auction - address, telephone, email and authorised representative. Watch out: Read the line above it before anything else: do not use this form if you have the vehicle's Certificate of Title.
9	AGENT	Is applicant an insurance company? Is applicant an auction?	Two check-one pairs. Watch out: This is the restriction, printed as a question. There is no box for an individual owner.
10	AGENT	Vehicle information and the former owner	Year, make, model, colour, VIN, then the name and registered address of the former owner over two lines. Watch out: This is where a private owner appears on the form: as a name, written by somebody else, on the document that removes their title.
11	AGENT	The certification, and the two letters behind it	Paragraph 1 for an insurer, paragraph 2 for an auction, each signed with a printed name, a position and a date. Watch out: Both certifications turn on the same evidence: legible copies of two written attempts, sent by certified mail or courier, to reach the former owner and any known lienholder.
12	OTHER	DMV Use Only	Approved by, and a date, at the foot of the affidavit. Watch out: Untouchable, like every DMV-use strip in the Delaware set.

What gets this one rejected

- A private owner filing it. The affidavit's purpose line names the two categories that may use it and neither is a person.
- Filing it while holding the certificate. Printed under the affidavit's heading: do not use this form if you have the vehicle's Certificate of Title.
- Neither the insurance box nor the auction box ticked. Each is a check-one pair, and the certification the applicant signs below depends on the answer.
- Signing the wrong certification. Paragraph 1 is headed Insurance Company Applicant Only and paragraph 2 Auction Only. They swear to different facts.
- No proof of the two letters. Attach copies of two written attempts sent by certified mail or courier to contact the vehicle's former owner and any known lienholder - and the statute behind it wants a courier whose regular business is delivery service and that provides proof of delivery.
- A blank official title or printed name of company on page one. Both are marked Required.
- An incomplete filing generally. The affidavit says so in one sentence: the Division of Motor Vehicles may refuse to accept an incomplete filing.
