How to fill out MV11 — Application for Repossession of a Vehicle

Montana · written against MV11 (10/19), issued under MCA 61-3-221, involuntary transfer, with the applicant indemnifying the Chief of the Vehicle Services Bureau

Not your form, and worth knowing whose it is. This is how a secured party that has already taken a vehicle back gets a Montana title in its own name so it can sell the car - the paperwork behind the repossession, not the repossession itself. It is here because sellers search for it: people who have fallen behind on a loan want to know what is coming, and people buying a repossessed car want to know what the seller is holding. The one number in it that matters to an owner is five: once the department receives repossession documents, the titled owner is notified and has five days from the date of notification to contact the secured party before the repossession title issues.

This sheet is not the form. Download the blank MV11 from the Montana Department of Justice, Motor Vehicle Division, Vehicle Services Bureau at <https://mvdmt.gov/wp-content/uploads/2023/10/MV11-Application-for-Repossession-of-a-Vehicle.pdf> — always take the current revision from the agency rather than a copy. Print this and keep it beside you while you complete theirs.

Every line, in the order you meet it

1	LENDER	The applicant	The person, firm, company or corporation making the application, and where it resides. Watch out: This is the party that will end up on the new Montana title. If the name here is a servicer rather than the lender on your loan, the security agreement it names should explain why.
2	LENDER	The security agreement and the debtor	Who the agreement was entered into with, and their address. Watch out: That name is the titled owner the department will notify. An address the lender has not updated is how a five-day notice reaches nobody.
3	LENDER	The vehicle, including the title number	Year, make, style, ton, plate, colour, VIN and title number. Watch out: The plate is listed because it is still assigned to the registered owner. A repossession does not transfer plates any more than a sale does.
4	LENDER	The date of lawful repossession	The day, month and year the vehicle was taken, followed by the certification of continuous and undisputed possession since. Watch out: This date is the anchor for everything that follows. If it is wrong, the possession certification signed underneath it is wrong too.
5	LENDER	The signature, and the indemnity beneath it	Printed name, legal signature, identification number, email and phone, under MCA 45-7-203. Watch out: The signature also adopts the indemnity of the Chief of the Vehicle Services Bureau and an agreement to defend any resulting suit at the applicant's own expense. That is the price of a title issued on one party's word.

What gets this one rejected

- An owner filing it. Only the party holding the security agreement can make this application - it establishes the secured party's ownership, not anybody else's.
- A gap in possession. The certification is continuous and undisputed possession from the date of repossession to the present, and a vehicle handed back and taken again is a different set of facts.
- The two dates confused. One is the day of the repossession; the other is the day the application is signed. Filling both with today's date says the car was taken this morning.
- A missing title number where one exists. The department is transferring an existing record, and the title number is how it finds it.
- An unsigned indemnity. The signature adopts the indemnity of the Bureau Chief along with everything else on the page; there is no version of this form without it.
