How to fill out RDMV 125 — Application for Replacement Plates and/or Decals

New Hampshire plates belong to the person rather than the car, so a seller keeps them and moves them to the next vehicle. This is the form for when one of them cannot make that trip - lost, stolen, destroyed, or never received by post - and the rule printed on it about keeping the same number is the part that catches people out.

This sheet is not the form. Download the blank RDMV 125 from the New Hampshire Division of Motor Vehicles at <https://www.dmv.nh.gov/sites/g/files/ehbemt416/files/inline-documents/rdmv125.pdf> — always take the current revision from the agency rather than a copy. Print this and keep it beside you while you complete theirs.

Every line, in the order you meet it

1	YOU	Plate number, type and phone	The three boxes across the top. Watch out: The number comes off the registration certificate you kept when you sold the car - which is one more reason the statute tells you to keep it.
2	YOU	Choose what you need	Two plates at $8.00, one plate at $4.00, or decals only at $1.00. Watch out: Both figures include the decal fee. Ordering decals separately afterwards costs more than ordering them together.
3	YOU	The reason	Lost, stolen, destroyed, plate change or never received by mail. Watch out: Stolen is the one with consequences. It forces a new number, and the certification on the form says the loss was reported to a New Hampshire police department.
4	YOU	Owner details	Name, date of birth, street, city, state and ZIP. Watch out: The name must match the registration record. A married name here and a maiden name on the record is a stop.
5	YOU	Description of vehicle	Year, make, model and the identification number. Watch out: If the plates are between cars because you have just sold one, this is the vehicle they were registered to - not the one you are about to buy.
6	YOU	The police department line	Which New Hampshire police department the loss was reported to. Watch out: Report it first and write the department in second. The certification says the loss was reported, in the past tense.
7	YOU	Sign, and surrender the survivor	Owner's signature under penalty of unsworn falsification, and the remaining plate in the envelope if you want to keep your number. Watch out: Not cash in the same envelope. The form says so in capitals.

What gets this one rejected

- A request to keep the same number without surrendering a plate. The note on the form says a set of plates with the same number can only be ordered if one or both plates are surrendered with this application.
- A stolen-plate application asking for the same number. If the plates were stolen, a new number must be issued.
- Cash in an envelope. DO NOT MAIL CASH is printed on the form.
- A blank police department line where the reason given is lost or stolen - the certification names a report to a New Hampshire police department.
