How to fill out MVD-10018 — Affidavit of Gift of Motor Vehicle or Vessel

sellmycarhub.com

New Mexico · written against MVD-10018 (Rev 11/2025), issued under 3.11.4.15 NMAC; NMSA 1978 §§66-5-38 and 30-25-1 (the perjury warning printed on the form)

</forms/new-mexico/mvd10018-affidavit-of-gift/>

The form that turns the excise tax off, which is why it is the most heavily fortified document in the ordinary New Mexico set. A genuine gift is not a sale, so no tax is due - but the division requires this two-page affidavit, sworn separately by donor and recipient, each signature notarized on its own page, before it will believe one. It is also the one everyday transfer form that prints an Exempt (EX) box in its odometer disclosure, because its 2025 revision post-dates the federal rule change.

This sheet is not the form. Download the blank MVD-10018 from the New Mexico Taxation and Revenue Department, Motor Vehicle Division at <https://realfile.tax.newmexico.gov/mvd10018.pdf> — always take the current revision from the agency rather than a copy. Print this and keep it beside you while you complete theirs.

Every line, in the order you meet it

1	YOU	The vehicle, and the odometer	Year, make, model, VIN and plate, then the odometer disclosure - reading in whole miles and one of four boxes, EX included on this revision. Watch out: A 2010-or-older vehicle can honestly take EX under the federal rule; a 2011-or-newer one cannot until it is twenty. This is the rare New Mexico form where that choice is printed rather than implied.
2	YOU	Donor block and date of gift	The giver's name, address and contact details, and the date the gift was made. Watch out: The date of gift starts the recipient's titling clock the same way a sale date would. A gift 'dated' months before the counter visit invites the late-transfer penalty conversation.
3	YOU	The donor's oath, before a notary	Sign the donor affidavit in the notary's presence; the notary completes the acknowledgement, dates it, and seals it. Watch out: Read the sentence you are swearing: no payment was received in consideration of the transfer. Consideration is broader than cash - assumption of a loan, forgiven debts, and traded labour all count.
4	BUYER	Recipient and relationship	Page two: the new owner's details and the relationship line - daughter, brother, spouse, friend. Watch out: Answer it plainly. The division reads this line when deciding whether the gift story holds together, and vagueness helps nobody.
5	BUYER	The recipient's oath, before a notary	The new owner swears the mirror-image affidavit and is notarized on their own page. Watch out: The two notarizations need not be the same notary or the same day - but the affidavit travels as one document, and the recipient files it with their title application.
6	BUYER	File it with the title work	The completed, twice-notarized affidavit goes in with the certificate and the application at the field office. Watch out: The title fee is still owed on a gift - the affidavit removes the excise tax, not the transaction. A gift headed straight for a trade-in can take the title-only route and skip the plate.

What gets this one rejected

- One notarization instead of two. Donor and recipient each swear on their own page, and the division's manual is explicit that both signatures must be notarized.
- Money anywhere in the story. The affidavit's operative words are 'no payment' - a discounted price, a debt forgiven, or work traded for the car makes this a sale, and the affidavit false.
- Filed without need. A transfer with a price is simply taxed on the price; this form exists only for the transfer with none.
- Absent when claimed. The manual's instruction is that without the affidavit, a claimed gift is treated as a sale and taxed on the higher of the actual price or the vehicle's reasonable value.
- An odometer block skipped because it is family. The gift moves title, and the federal disclosure attaches to the transfer, not to the money - the reading and a code are still required.
- Signed before the notary is present. The acknowledgement recites that the signer appeared and signed voluntarily; a pre-signed sheet asks the notary to certify something they did not see.

☒ Amber is what you write ☐ Grey is a block somebody else completes The filled-in example is at the start of this sheet.
