POA (01/2024)

How somebody signs a Rhode Island registration document on your behalf when you cannot be at the counter. It is deliberately narrow: it expires when the transaction is processed or thirty days from signature, whichever comes first, and its own instructions rule it out for the one job people most want it for - a title assignment on a vehicle subject to federal odometer disclosure.

This sheet is not the form. Download the blank POA from the Rhode Island Division of Motor Vehicles at <https://dmv.ri.gov/media/2706/download?f=ri-limited-poa.pdf> — always take the current revision from the agency rather than a copy. Print this and keep it beside you while you complete theirs.

Every line, in the order you meet it

1	YOU	Owner 1, exactly as the record has you	First, middle and last name, licence number and issuing state, then the full address. Watch out: The heading over the block says complete all applicable fields legibly. A middle name that appears on the licence appears here too.
2	YOU	Owner 2, if the car is jointly held	The same block again underneath. Watch out: Both owners appoint the attorney and both signatures get notarised. One owner cannot grant a power over the other's interest.
3	YOU	Name the grantee	First, middle and last name with a licence number and state, under a heading that says legal name required. Watch out: Legal name means the one on their licence. A nickname on this rule and a different name on the attached photo identification is a refusal at the counter.
4	YOU	The vehicle, and the comb	Year, make, model, cylinders, then the identification number into seventeen separate cells, plus title number, mileage and state issued. Watch out: One character per cell, starting in the first box. If the car has never been titled in Rhode Island there is no title number to write - leave it and be ready to explain it.
5	YOU	Insurance	Company name, policy number and effective dates to and from. Watch out: Rhode Island ties registration to financial security, so this block is checked rather than skimmed. Dates that have lapsed make the power useless for a registration transaction.
6	YOU	Sign in front of the notary	Owner's signature and date, and the second owner's if there is one. Watch out: Do not sign at home. The band above the rules requires notarisation and the stamp has to be ink - a Rhode Island notary who only embosses will have to do it again.
7	YOU	Attach both photo identifications	A copy for each grantor and one for the grantee. Watch out: This is in the instructions rather than in a box, which is exactly why it is the item that gets forgotten. Without it the form is incomplete before it leaves the house.
8	OTHER	Use it inside thirty days	The power expires when the transaction is processed or thirty days from signature, whichever comes first. Watch out: Sign it when the transaction is ready to go, not when the car goes on the market. A power signed in June is worthless in August.

- What gets this one rejected
- An un-notarised signature. It is printed in capitals across the signature band: OWNER(S) SIGNATURE(S) MUST BE NOTARIZED.
 - A notary who embosses only. The same line finishes NOTARY STAMP MUST BE INK AND NOT ONLY EMBOSSED.
 - Any section left out. The instructions open with the rule that all sections of this Limited Power of Attorney (POA) Form must be completed to be valid.
 - A form partly handwritten and partly filled in by somebody else later - all sections must be handwritten or typed, and a copy of photo IDs for grantor(s) and grantee is required with it.
 - A photocopy or a fax. The foot of the sheet says signatures must be originals and photocopies or fax copies are not acceptable.
 - A crossing-out anywhere. Alterations and erasures void this form.
 - Using it to assign a title on a vehicle subject to federal odometer disclosure. The instruction block says the secure Power of Attorney to Disclose Mileage, Form MVT-10, must be used instead - and the MVT-10 is issued only to licensed Rhode Island dealerships.

☒ Amber is what you write ☐ Grey is a block somebody else completes The filled-in example is at the start of this sheet.
